Warm Feet For Warriors

In 1861, General Robert E. Lee asked his wife for socks to give to soldiers that were cold and ill that winter. In total, over 800 pairs of warm socks were provided to our beloved Confederate soldiers in need. Over 160 years later, the Texas Division has the opportunity to repeat history!

Please collect socks at your Chapter meetings during December and January to bring to FORUM on January 30.

Important information:

- New socks for men or women.
- Black is the only color worn with uniforms but they will accept any color.
- Any style of socks accepted. Think comfort and warmth while wearing shoes.

Put them in collection boxes at the registration table.

Let's emulate the actions of General Lee... Let's provide socks for our soldiers!!

Tami Hurley, President - Texas Division UDC 2020-2022

Excerpt from the 1913 speech by UDC President General, Mrs. Alexander B. White at the General Convention in New Orleans, LA.

The objects of our organization are "Benevolent, memorial, historical, educational and social." It endeavors to draw into closer bonds of friendship all its members, and by unity of action to accomplish greater results in honoring Confederate dead, and in charity to needy Confederate Veterans and their families.

With a membership of over 90,000 every one of Confederate lineage, ours is the only strictly Southern organization. Its stronghold is in the South, but it has extended its influence and membership far beyond the confines of "Dixie Land" and now its dominion is from the Atlantic westward across the Great Plains to the sun-kissed Pacific; from the Rio Grande to the blue Columbia; from the Gulf to the Great Lakes. We have even gone beyond the borders of the United States, for we have a Chapter in the City of Mexico.

Wherever seven women, with true Confederate blood coursing in their veins, find one another, be it in the heart of Abolition land, or on the snowy summits of the Rocky Mountains, they come together in a Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Of the forty-eight States forming the Union, the United Daughters of the Confederacy has Chapters in thirty-three. In New York City are two Chapters, one with a membership of six hundred; Philadelphia has two flourishing Chapters, one organized sixteen years ago; Minneapolis has a Chapter. It is no doubt astounding to some to learn that we have a State Organization in California, in the State of Washington, as well as in Washington, D. C., in Ohio and in Illinois. So now we have State Divisions in twenty-two States, and will soon have another in Colorado.

Some think of the United Daughters of the Confederacy as several thousand militant and contentious women keeping alive sectional feeling. We are not organized to stir up sectional bitterness, and there is too much important work to be done to waste time on that. If we are at times apparently contentious, we are only insisting upon truth and justice for the Southern Confederacy, for the South, for our noble men, for the truth that we have in the different States U. D. C. text book committees to see that unbiased histories and unprejudiced readers are used in Southern schools. It is because of truth and because they are misnomers that we insist the terms "Lost Cause," "Civil War," and "Rebels" shall not be used.

Eagerly we await the great historian who shall write truthfully, and understandingly of the South, and for his coming is cherished every paper, order, relic, every letter that may tell the story of the South. All will be ready to his hand in the White House of the Confederacy at Richmond, our Confederate Museum, the treasure house of our relics of those who built the Confederacy's "glory out of deathless dreams" and mementoes of men who fought and marched so well as to win all men's respect. There we have placed thousands and thousands of rolls of honor of dauntless and true Confederate soldiers giving and dead, their records gathered from their comrades and their families. We are working now for an endowment fund of $2,000 for each of the fifteen rooms of that house, where President Jefferson Davis labored and across whose portals passed and repassed the brave and gallant men of the South in the days of the Confederacy.

Hello daughters,

I hated that I could not attend the December meeting, but the pictures were amazing and it looked like everyone enjoyed themselves! I hope everyone had a Merry Christmas, and that you were able to bring in the new year with loved ones.

December was a slow month regarding chapter business, but things will change as we start the new year. Per capita will be due by the end of the month, as well as several of us attending forum in College Station. We will also begin taking registrations for our annual barbeque to be held in April.

Looking forward to seeing everyone at the January Meeting!

Chapter Current News

As we begin 2021, let's be thinking about what we can do to help educate others about the War Between the States. You would not be in this UDC organization if you were not interested in learning about your ancestors who served the South. One of the best ways to educate is reading books which are related to that time frame. Our president, Patty Williams, offers suggestions of books which help in our education. These are great gift ideas so keep that in mind when your family wants to know what you may want for your birthday or other gift giving opportunities. Another suggestion is your ancestor pins to be purchased so that it can be added to your ribbon. Be proud of your ancestors and be glad to learn more about what they contributed and endured during that time.

As we look forward to forum in January, we will gain the necessary updated information about the forms needed to complete applications for scholarships. However, in the meantime, these forms are available on line for both Texas Division and General. Even if we learn of changes at forum, they probably will not deviate much from what is already available on-line. If you know of someone who wants to apply for scholarships, please furnish these forms to them. Once completed, we will be glad to review them for processing. For the Ora Mayfield Scholarship of our own chapter, the procedural forms are being updated. As soon as that is complete, we will be offering them for view on our website.

Happy New Year to all! It seems to be starting as a bit of left-over last year, but I am hoping and praying things will be better as the year progresses.

I was given paperwork for one Military Service Award which hopefully will be given at our event in April. This individual served our country during the Vietnam Conflict period and would be eligible for a National Defense Medal. More information will be given as that time draws nearer.

Please continue to remember our current military. As the new administration comes in, there will be many changes for them. They are so important for the security of our country and we should always be thankful for their service. May God bless them always.

Love to all,

Paula Patterson, Recorder of Military Service Awards

Chapter Current News

With the current negative attitudes of some toward all things Confederate, it seems like a good time for us to read what one prominent member of the Texas Division had to say about the formation of the group. THE YEAR BOOK FOR TEXAS, 1901 records the words of the President of the Texas Division at that time- Mrs. Cone Johnson of Tyler.

Eight years ago, the organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Minerva-like, sprang into existence from the brain of that noble Southern woman, Mrs. M.C. Goodlett, Nashville, Tennessee. The harvest was ripe, the need of organized womanhood in the South was pressing. The time had come for the women to take up the work of vindicating Southern principles, of teaching the youth that they must demonstrate, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that the South was forced into the war, and fought for the preservation of guaranteed constitutional rights, and the North for the power to adapt the Constitution to its new doctrine and yet to maintain the Union." The objects of the organization are " historical, educational, memorial, benevolent, social to fulfill the duties of chivalry to the survivors of the war and those dependent on them; to collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the war; to unite with the Confederate veterans in the determination that American history shall be properly taught in the public schools in the State; to protect places of historical interest; to record the part taken by Southern women; to honor the memory of those who fell in Confederate service; to erect monuments to the heroes of the Confederacy; to cherish ties of friendship among the members of the organization." A nobler purpose never drew good women together. This is a work of simple justice to the South, to which the Daughters are pledged by all the ties of a sacred past and all the hopes of a glorious future.

Mrs. Cone Johnson was Eliza Sophia "Birdie" Robertson Johnson, a charter member of Mollie Moore Davis 217, and our second President. She also served as Secretary and Vice-President of the Texas Division and became President following the death of Mrs. Tobin in 1901. She was then elected President of Texas Division in 1902. She served as President of Mollie Moore Davis 217 from 1899 until 1911. She died in 1926 and is buried in Rose Hill Cemetery in Tyler. The pictures below are of Birdie Johnson.

Dear Members:

We made it through the celebrations of Christmas, the New Year and in my family, birthdays. It seems time is passing faster until I have my 3 great granddaughters, then the day goes by slow because they are so active and I am slower. This was the case yesterday with all the snow and school canceled. It was fun watching them play most of the day in the snow and trying to keep them changed into dry clothes along the way. The point I am trying to make is; watching the girls have fun, trying to keep them dry and warm without any electricity was challenging, but rewarding because they are mine and I love them. Even though we have these challenging times, we keep pushing forward. Everyone was talking about the year 2021 being better, but one cannot say what problems may lay ahead no matter what year it may be. We still have the same issues in Washington, D.C., same issues with COVID19, and just problems in life. As our members keep working to lift up our ancestors and the causes for which they believed, we continue to find roadblocks along the way. We love them because they are ours, our family and we wish to honor their memory.

We have members who are going through some very difficult times today. Please keep Sarah Beene and her husband, John, in your prayers as John goes through treatments for cancer issues. The Kidd family is facing health problems with Sam Kidd recovering from a stroke and Sherry Kidd's medical concerns. Mary June Goodson is hopefully doing better after her back surgery, but she has suffered for a long time and prayer is the best medicine for all. There are others in our chapter who are going through tough times, so it doesn't hurt to say a prayer that I call, "Blanket prayer" to cover us all.

Philippians 4:8

Whatsoever things are TRUE, whatsoever things are HONEST, whatsoever things are JUST, whatsoever things are PURE, whatsoever things are LOVELY, whatsoever things are OF GOOD REPORT, if there be any virtue, if there be any praise, THINK ON THESE THINGS.

God Bless,
Paula Warren, Chaplain

Children of the Confederacy

Almost one hundred and sixty years ago, the people of the Southern states did not want Abraham Lincoln as the President of the United States. The Southern states decided to form their own country rather than be a part of the United States. South Carolina was the first to secede (leave) the union, followed within a few months by Georgia, Mississippi, Texas, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana. These states formed their own country called the Confederate States of America. Jefferson Davis became President. War began on April 12, 1861.

Children and everyone's lives were impacted. Children served in the army as soldiers even though they were supposed to be age 18. Thousands of young boys from ages 13 to 17 fought in the war. Many were killed or wounded in battle. The youngest of the boy soldiers were messengers or drummers. Boys as young as age 10 are on record as serving drummers during the war. They served for communication on the battlefield. Different drum rolls signaled different commands like "retreat" or "attack". Those who served as messengers were usually fast runners who could bravely run important battle messages from one commander to another.

Johnny Clem - Union

The most famous of the boy soldiers during the Civil War was Johnny Clem who tried to join the Union Army at the age of nine, but was rejected because of his age and size. He didn't give up. He followed along with the 22nd Michigan regiment until they adopted him as their drummer. He officially joined the Union Army two years later at the age of 13. He became famous when he shot a Confederate officer and escaped during a battle at Chickamauga, GA. Throughout the War, Johnny's adventures and exploits became legendary. He continued as a soldier after the war, rising to the rank of Brigadier General. He was the last veteran of the Civil War to retire from the U.S. Armed Forces in 1915.

Some children served in the camps where they might wash dishes, fix meals, and set up the camp when it moved. These children were in less danger than soldiers on the front lines, but were often near them. Historians estimate that as many as 20% of the soldiers who fought in the Civil war were under the age of 18. This is why the war is sometimes called "The Boys War."

Children at home had to work extra hard and take on jobs of adults to help make ends meet. They lived in fear that their father or brother may never return. Much of the fighting took place in the South, so if homes were near a battle, they heard gunfire and cannon noises through the night. Soldiers might march pass their homes, returning home or on the way to a battle. Children hoped the soldiers wouldn't destroy their crops or their home.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The objections to placing a statue of the Confederate General, Robert E. Lee, in Statuary hall, at the capitol, have been silenced and the plan of the Virginia Legislature will be carried out. Sculptor Valentine is at work at Richmond on the statue, which is to cost $10,000. He expects to have it finished within two years.

The statue will be modeled after the recumbent figure on the Lee sarcophagus at Lexington, Va. The sculptor has the exact measurements of General Lee's face and figure, and the statue, it is promised, will be a perfect reproduction. There is not a perfect erect statue of General Lee in existence. His standing figure surmounts the Lee monument at New Orleans, but it is not a portrait statue. There is an equestrian statue of the Confederate chieftain in Richmond, but the face is not perfect.

Virginia Removes Its Robert E. Lee Statue from U.S. Capitol

For more than 100 years, two statues representing Virginia have stood at the U.S. Capitol: one of George Washington and another of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Early Monday, December 21, 2020, the Lee statue was removed from the National Statuary Hall's collection. It's expected to be replaced by a statue honoring civil rights activist Barbara Johns.

The Lee statue will be moved to the Virginia Museum of History and Culture in Richmond,

With the uncertainty of 2021, we must listen to wise advice from the past.

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going." (John Thomas, coach of the Green Hornets football team)
- Calm down and focus on what we need to do.

What lies behind us and what lies ahead of us are tiny matters to what lies within us. (Ralph Waldo Emerson) – Keep things in perspective.

Most of the important things in the world have been accomplished by people who have kept on trying when there seemed to be no hope at all. (Dale Carnegie) – Never give up

Our greatest glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall. (Confucius) – Determination to carry on

Promise me you'll always remember: You're braver than you believe, and stronger than you seem, and smarter than you think. (Christopher Robin to Pooh – A.A.Milne) – We already have the courage within us

We as Southern ladies have the strength and wisdom of our amazing ancestors that came before us. We are a combination of all of the threads that helped them to persevere through wars, depressions, and times of trial. Let us continue to forge ahead during these trying times. This sounds like an important mission to me!
