MMD 217 President's Message

I'm not sure how Christmas got here so quickly! But most of you know it is one of my favorite times of the year. I've been busy getting decorations up trying to get ready for several gatherings at my home this season. I am also making many of the grandkids gifts this year, just like my Maw Maw did for my sister and I. So many of my things belonged to my precious family members who are no longer with us. They are celebrating a "Heavenly Christmas". Memories come flooding back as I take out each ornament or decoration. Sometimes those memories flood heart, my eyes, and even down my cheeks! I will always remember the wonderful times and traditions over the years.

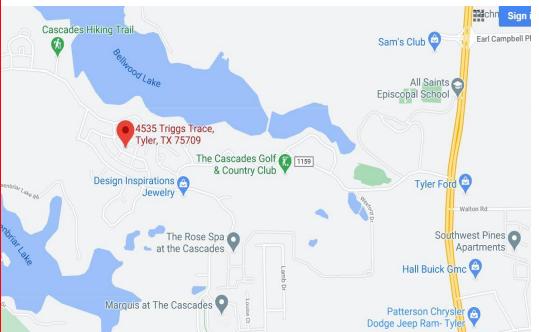

So now as I remember them, I also remember all the Southern ladies who did the same things for their families over the years. The War Between the States left so many with so little that Christmas would have been very hard for them. But I somehow imagine that they worked very hard to make it better than all the other days of the year, even if just a bit. And to all of those wonderful ladies, we should give thanks for their spirit of determination which has made each one of us who we are today.

I want to wish everyone a wonderful and blessed Christmas in this very unusual year of 2020.

Remembering and respecting our ancestors, Patty Williams, MMD 217 President

Hi Ladies,

I am looking forward to working with all of you these next two years. These are going to be challenging times for our organization, and I admire your willingness to serve!

As you all know, our building was attacked on May 31, 2020 and was partially burned. Thank goodness we had insurance which paid the majority of the repairs. The insurance quit paying the security in August (we reached the max our policy allowed), since August we have been paying on average over $25,000 per week for security. We must keep security since Richmond is still a very volatile city. There have been several instances when security had to run off people trying to break in or attack the building. These are not your average security guards, they are ex-Navy Seals, Special Forces type men. The average cost of one guard per week is $2,000.00, and they are doing a wonderful job of protecting our building and the employees.

Many of you have asked me how your Divisions can help. It's obvious we need money; we are bleeding money weekly on security. We are looking at ways to protect the building so we won't need so much security, but at this time we have no choice but to have a heavy security presence. One way to help would be to adopt a Security Guard, this would be a doable project for the Chapters and Divisions, while we can't give the actual names of the guards, the Chapter/Division could name their own guard. Maybe Daughters could give a $1.00 for each supplemental they have; a $1.00 for every year you have been a member. We are smart Southern women we can come up with many ways to raise money! We have the restoration pin with dangles which are available to purchase for each $100.00 donation. Any ideas you have please share, we are all in this together!

I hope you all and your family stay safe from this dreadful virus. If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know. My phone number is 245-466-5396 and email linda56edwards@yahoo.com

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY CHRISTMAS HOSTS OF THE SOLDIERS' HOME VETERANS.

One hundred and ten gray-haired and gray-clothed and time-honored Confederate veterans yesterday participated in the annual Christmas treat given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the Soldiers' Home on Bayou St. John.

Owing to the fact that twenty-three of the veterans are confined in the infirmary, two programmes of entertainment were given, one in the infirmary and the other in the library of the building.

The day's fun hegan at 2 o'clock, when fifty Daughters served a magnificent-dinner-for-the-old-soldiers. The daughters of the Napoleonville chapter served the oyster soup, while the chicken, ham and rice were served by the New Orleans Daughters. Salads, vegetables, cakes, candies, cigars, to-bacco and wine were part of the dinner.

Following the repost a short musical programme was given in the infirmary, and at 3 o'clock the big entertainment was put on.

Little Miss Beverly Kendall Favrot, 7 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. St. Clair Favrot, of Baton Rouge, and pupil of the Asia School, of the Capital City, was the great hit of the day with the soldiers.

The little tot sang in a sweet voice and without a falter. "My Dad Carried a Flag for Dixle." Veterans who were propped up in bed begged the child to sing on, and she did. In the library soldiers rushed forth and embraced and kissed little Miss Favrot and coaxed her to again sing, and she did.

her to again sing, and she did.

The day's entertainment was under the direction of Miss Lise Allain, custodian of the Louisiana Division of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

At the conclusion of the programm, the veterans answered the roll case and each was presented with a Christ mas present, consisting of a pair of gloves, two pairs of socks, a muffled two handkerchiefs, a pine, a knife, to bucco and a box of candy.

Hello MMD Ladies!!

December brings a chill to East Texas but the hearts of our UDC members are warm!!! Our Chapter truly has something special when you see the camaraderie on the texts during a ZOOM convention, cheering on Chapter members who are "under the weather" or hearing the laughter and conversations at our meetings. Thank you to each one of you as YOU keep our Chapter one of the best in the Texas Division.

Please remember that you can reach out to me at any time for insignia or magazine orders. I can email you the forms or you can pick them up from me at a meeting. I have attached the non- engraved form including some of our Commemorative pins that require NO proof- easy for Christmas Presents!!

UDC Love, Tami Hurley, Vice President

Hello daughters,

As always it was good to see everyone at the November meeting. Carma did a great job on her presentation and the meal was wonderful!

Now that we have worked out the details on the annual BBQ fundraiser, please start gathering those items that you can put into the silent auction. With that being our chapters only fundraiser, it is important that we raise as much money as possible during this event. Additionally, we want to ensure we are talking to other UDC chapters, as well as SCV members to let them know they are invited to this event!

Looking forward to an amazing holiday season, in spite of the pandemic. Please reach out to those members that have not been able to attend meetings so they will know they are missed.

Chapter Current News

OK, so I guess you all know that I have been writing my family book now for too long! Well, I just get so excited about genealogy study for not only my family but anyone else's and just have not completed that book. But I love to relate the stories I find and especially if they are related to any of our Confederate ancestors. But a current story involving our Southern history has me perplexed. Why some states or companies choose to ignore what is history and dear to us has me baffled. Something else you may know about me (and a few others in our chapter) is that we have collected Hallmark ornaments for many years (me since the 1970's) and spent thousands of dollars doing so. Some of us have series of ornaments that are over 25 years in the making. For several years, Hallmark has had the "Gone with the Wind" series and this year was no exception. However, in attempting to purchase it, I was told they had them in the stores but were not allowed to sell any and issued a recall on them. Let's all stay focused in educating the public and support those who support us!

Greetings!

As we cope with COVID-19, children are either in school or at home for their lessons via computers. Teachers are preparing lessons for the current situations at the time as they can quickly change. Below is an example of what teachers had to follow shortly after the Civil War.

Chapter Current News

This year has been a year like no other for most of us. With COVID, elections, quarantine, toilet paper shortages, etc. While most of us can't wait for this year to be done and look to 2021 with hope that it will be a better year. Even in the midst of all the craziness that goes by the name of 2020 we are all extremely blessed. We have life, loved ones, a roof over our heads and plenty to eat just to name a few. The hymn, Count Your Blessings, should really be the standard that we live by.

The following are some excerpts from an article I read about Christmas in the South in 1860's.

Perhaps at no other time were the shortages in the South felt more keenly than at Christmas. Mothers who successfully overcame shortages of every known item with zeal, even taking pride in their crude make-shift substitutions, were often reduced to tears when Christmas came and they were not able to provide expected repasts and gifts for their children.

This scenario was played out in homes across the South to such an extent that a book was written to explain why Santa did not always visit the little Southern children during the war years.

The highlight of the giving was in receiving a letter from a loved one for herself while filling the children's stockings with crude home-made treats. In contrasting their "limited means" with Christmases of the past she became so melancholy she retired to her room for a good cry. While the family managed to have a turkey and mince pies for holiday fare Lucy worried that her brothers who were away in the army might have had no dinner at all.

Lucy Breckinridge compared Christmas 1862 with that of previous years in saying she and her parents spent Christmas Eve gravely talking about matters at hand as if there were no such thing as Christmas.

John Jones noted that Christmas of 1863 was sad and that snow was eminent. Thoughts were on the soldiers whose thoughts of home would do little to warm their hearts. Mr. Jones' children had decorated their parlor with evergreens, crosses and stars, and the focus of their efforts was a decorated cedar tree. The family was not able to enjoy turkey but Mr. Jones stated it was no loss as the family had no heart to partake in the holiday anyway. He stated the tree would be sparsely decorated since candy was selling for $8.00 per pound - almost an entire month's pay for a Confederate private.

Truly, we are blessed - hopefully we will remember the reason we have this season in the first place, to worship and honor the greatest gift ever given, Jesus Christ. May God bless and keep you my dear friends.

Loretta Tomlin - Historian

Time has come to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Prayers are for all members to be well and stay safe during these difficult times. Have not been informed of any members who are sick, but I do have friends who have the COVID-19 virus and in the hospital. Many folks are getting depressed and dealing with unhappy situations. My advice for them is to try and look upon the good things and blessings we have in life. You may have heard that I took a fall and got a cut in the back of my head that took 3 staples to patch me up. Missing our last meeting was due to the doctor telling me to take it easy for a couple of weeks. The staples are out now and feeling some better. The one thing that is hard for me is trying to get my confidence back to normal. In other words, just not sure if I can go and do without falling which is a part of getting older. Hope to see everyone at our meeting.

"And this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." Luke 2:12

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a magnificent New Year! Paula Warren, Chaplain

Ladies-

All of us need to make sure that our ancestors are listed on the site of the U.D.C. Records of Interments of Confederate Veterans. There is an official form for this on the General web-site. (www.hqudc.org) We are asked to complete the form in a certain way so those who enter the information on-line are able to do so quickly and efficiently. The following are the rules:

- 1. Only Confederate soldiers and sailors are to be submitted.
- 2. The name is entered exactly as it is on the tombstone. (even if it is misspelled)
- 3. Enter the name as it appears in Confederate military records. (National archives or state records, Fold 3, Pension record by state and number, grave marker, etc.)
- 4. Enter the highest rank held by the veteran using the proper abbreviation.
- 5. Enter only one unit in which the soldier served. (the last one known)
- 6. Enter the state from which the soldier served by the correct 2 letter abbreviation. If the unit was formed by the Confederate government rather than a state, list CSA.
- 7. Enter the dates of birth and death in mm/ dd/yy format. (month/ day/year- as 10/01/39) If the month and day are unknown, enter only the year.
- 8. List the complete name of the cemetery. If it is a family cemetery, say so.
- 9. Location of cemetery (if address is unknown give physical location as completely as possiblenear the intersection of Hwy. 110 and Thompson Rd.; GPS locations may be found on Findagrave.com and there is usually a map shown)
- 10.If the grave is unmarked, provide a description of the location such as in family plot, next to wife, etc.
- 11. Check the appropriate "yes" or "no" boxes.
- 12. Fill in all information at the bottom about yourself.
- 13. If the veteran served in more than one unit, these may be listed under "additional information".)

You should check the lists of Confederate veterans on the web-site. If your ancestor is there, check the information that is given. If anything is wrong or left off, there is a form for corrections. Many times, whoever submitted the information did so from memory rather than actually checking the tombstone, or a mistake was made, and information left off needs to be provided. Our Chapter and Division get credit for each form submitted.

Thoughts of Christmas

Sarah Espy of Cherokee, Alabama wrote in 1862:

25. Christmas day, but there is no excitement among the people; I have not heard a gun fired; how unlike the Christmas times of my youth, when there were almost a constant roar of artillery; but the scarcity of powder will in some measure account for it; John and Sis came up; Vivia and Virgil are both better; the young folks went to a quilting party at Mr. Hay's; Virginia took the baby home with her. I am not very well today. Knitting a shawl. The Diary of Sarah Espy, 1862, Cherokee, Alabama

http://files.usgwarchives.org/al/cherokee/history/espy_diary_3.txt

In Georgia, Julia Johnson Fisher wrote of the Christmas of 1864:

On Christmas day, we fared sumptuously. Mrs. Lynn dined with us and furnished the turkey. We had some chickens and a piece of fresh pork. Gussie had been off ten miles and brought oysters - so we had an oyster stew and chicken salad, minus the greens, potatoes and rice. The turkey was dressed with corn bread. Our dessert was a corn meal pudding... how we did relish it! We are always hungry - hungry the year round, but do not grow fat. http://civilwarwomenblog.com/civil-war-christmas/

In a letter to his sister Anna Simpson, Tally Simpson wrote: "December 25th My dear sister,

This is Christmas Day. The sun shines feeble through a thin cloud, the air is mild and pleasant, a gentle breeze is making music through the leaves of the lofty pines that stand near our bivouac. All is quiet and still and that very stillness recalls some sad and painful thoughts. The day, one year ago, how many thousand families, gay and joyous, celebrating Merry Christmas, drinking health to absent members of their family and sending upon the wings of love and affection long, deep, and sincere wishes for their safe return to the loving ones at home, but today are clad in the deepest mourning in memory to some lost and loved member of their circle..."

"When will this war end? Will another Christmas roll around and find us all wintering in camp? Oh! That peace may soon be restored to our young but dearly beloved country and that we may all meet again in happiness." http://dburgin.tripod.com/cw_xmas/cwarxmas2.html

Sally Brock Putnam in Richmond felt differently about her Christmas:

"Never before had so sad a Christmas dawned upon us...We had neither the heart nor inclination to make the week merry with joyousness when such a sad calamity hovered over us." http://www.civilwar.org/education/h...t/culture/christmas-during-the-civil-war.html

Samuel S. Dunton wrote home in 1864 from the hospital that he was feeling better, hoped to survive the war, and appreciated the socks he had received. (Link) Edmond Hardy Jones noted his feelings about Christmas in a letter home to his wife Susan back home in Georgia in May 28th, 1864, "I do want to se you all so bad I dount know what to do. Keep the a going to school if you se they learn any worth speaking of. I hope I will get to come home by Christmas and se you all wonce more." Jones served with the 64th infantry. (Link)

Holiday traditions are a very important part of the holiday season. They play a significant role in helping us to maintain and strengthen family ties. They give us a sense of belonging and a way to express what is important to us. They connect us to our history and help us celebrate generations of family. In fact, for relatives who live far apart, holiday rituals may be the glue that holds the family together.

Most people can say, "oh this was great grandmas' tablecloth we always used for Christmas" or "I remember stringing popcorn with my mom when I was young" ... They keep the memories of the past alive and help us share them with younger generations.

Everyday life in 2020 has been extremely stressful and full of uncertainty. Having a special time of the year when we know exactly what to do, the way we've always done it, provides a comfortable sense of structure, control and stability. Nostalgia or remembrance of happy times create within us a comforting memory that can help us weather our storms during uncertain times.

Many of our family traditions are changing drastically this year. We are having to use technology to help us celebrate the holidays. It may be a Zoom call to relatives unable to travel. Shopping online and shipping gifts to family and friends. Amazon delivery has certainly been very busy at my house this year! Visiting via phone calls, text messages, and beautiful Christmas cards. What a blessing to live in the USA where we can still celebrate Christmas!

Let's all take time to keep our family traditions alive this holiday season and even create new traditions.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year 2021, Patty Williams, Editor
